

ELINOR GLYN'S
"THREE WEEKS"

Success is a dreadful tyrant. It sets up and snarls, shows its ugly teeth and daves the dazzled playwright to encroach upon its territory. It holds the position jealously and refuses to be bridged success, in fact, is a frightful old man of the sea. Elinor Glyn has given us a happy dramatic find in her dramatization of her famous book "Three Weeks." It has hit the keynote of success. It has proven that Elinor Glyn, besides being an authoress of rare ability, is also made of the right dramatic stuff. This is proven beyond peradventure of a doubt from the enormous success of "Three Weeks" as a play.

DANCER WILL TRAIN
MOST PERFECT CHILD

Oakland, Cal., July 9.—The mantle of the world's premier exponent of the arts of Grecian dancing, Isadora Duncan, may fall upon the perfect shoulders of 12-year-old Marjorie Edwards of this city, the daughter of the famous dancer.

Little Miss Edwards recently was awarded the New York Physical Culture Society's medal for most perfect physical development in a girl under 14 years. Naturally this distinction has attracted widespread notice.

Among those whose interest has been aroused is Isadora Duncan, queen of the terpsichorean arts of Greece. The little girl's mother refused today to make public the correspondence she has had with the New York favorite, but she acknowledged that Miss Duncan has displayed unusual interest in Marjorie. It is hinted that Miss Duncan has made a proposition to Mrs. Edwards, and would make the little girl her pupil.

The Journal seems to have had a firm control of the rain situation.

REDWOOD CITIZENS
LOOKING FOR GARTER

[United Press Leased Wire.] Redwood City, Cal., July 9.—All Redwood City is searching today for the silken, ruby-studded garter of Mrs. Louis Baumgardner of San Francisco. Though the handsome ruby set in the clasp is valued at some $200, Mrs. Baumgardner affirms there is another and far greater reason for its recovery. It was a birthday present from her husband and must be found.

Mrs. Baumgardner was a member of a Fourth of July motor party to the Hotel Del Monte, and during the return trip to this city the garter apparently slipped into the dusty roadway. Three days were necessary in which to gather courage to report the inestimable loss to the local authorities. The news became broadcast and today a multitude of searchers have sworn to return the jewel to its owner.
